

SANDY HOOK.

Home for the Distressed Quarantine Cabin Passengers.

The Hamburg-American Steamship Wieland Arrives With Sickness.

Yellow Flag Again Hoisted on Board the Steamship Normannia—Figure Showing the Plague's Complete Record to Date in New York Waters.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A dispatch was received at the war department Friday morning from the president directing that a portion of the government reservation at Sandy Hook be turned over to the treasury department as a station for the detention of passengers now on the ships in the lower bay at New York harbor. The president based his action on representations made to him by Secretary Foster and Secretary Tracy.

The news telegraphed from Sandy Hook and quarantine Friday morning is to the effect that the Hamburg-American line steamship Wieland, which passed Sandy Hook shortly after 6 o'clock Friday morning, reached the lower bay at 7:13 and there anchored and hoisted the yellow flag, indicating that she has sickness, probably cholera, on board.

The Wieland is not one of the first class steamers of the Hamburg-American line, but is a vessel of about the same size and build as the Rugia, which is now in lower quarantine. The Wieland, however, like the Rugia, carries both cabin and steerage passengers and no doubt has her usual full complement of the latter.

In addition the yellow flag has also again been hoisted on board the steamship Normannia, where so many saloon passengers are detained in spite of the fact that the scourge seems to be attacking the steamship's crew and steerage passengers alone.

It is therefore a relief to know that Sandy Hook also telegraphs that the dreaded flag was not hoisted Friday morning on board the Rugia or the Moravia, and hopes are entertained that there will be no further outbreaks of the disease on board of these two steamers.

The White Star steamer Britannic, from Liverpool, also passed Sandy Hook Friday morning and as she did so the signal "report me all well" was fluttering from her signal halyards.

Though this news of another cholera ship in port increases the gravity of the situation at quarantine, there is no alarm felt in official circles here, and the health authorities still feel confident of being able to keep the dread invader from landing on our shores.

The cholera record up to Friday morning, without counting the cases which may be announced Friday, is as follows: New cases Thursday, 10; total deaths in this port, 31; sick and under treatment, 14. These totals can in turn be distributed in the following manner:

Moravia—22 deaths at sea, 1 in port; total, 23; sick, 2; total cases, 25.

Normannia—5 deaths at sea, 9 in port; total, 14; sick, 2; total cases, 33.

Rugia—4 deaths at sea, 5 in port; total, 9; sick, 14; total cases, 23.

Totals—Deaths at sea, 31; death in port, 15; total deaths, 46; sick, 40; total cases, 86.

Dr. Jenkins said Thursday night that there had been no new cases of cholera on the Moravia for several days, and he is confident that the disease has been stamped out aboard this ship.

Of course there have been and will be rumors started that cases of cholera discovered in this city, but the health board is pledged to announce to the public the first case of Asiatic cholera which is discovered here and in its daily bulletins, now issued every morning and evening, the board denies that a case of genuine cholera has been discovered here.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Indiana Registration Law So Decided—An Appeal Higher.

DANVILLE, Ind., Sept. 10.—Judge Hadley has decided that the registration features of the election law are unconstitutional. His decision is that the registration clause is class legislation, imposing a burden upon one class of citizens. The law is in conflict with the constitution in that it does not allow a voter to change his residence within fifty-nine days, while the constitution allows him to move from precinct to precinct in thirty days. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court by the defendants. The suit was brought against the county auditor and the Journal Job Printing Co., to enjoin the auditor from issuing an order to pay for stationery needed by the clerk to comply with the registration law.
